CHARLES F. PRIOR

THE HUTTLESTONIAN

To show in some measure the privilege we feel has been ours in knowing Charles F. Prior as a superintendent and a friend, we, the Editorial Staff, in behalf of the members of the Class of 1929, dedicate this issue of "The Huttlestonian" to him.

The History of the Class of 1929

THE class of 1929 entered the Fairhaven High School in a manner very similar to that of all other classes. By 8:30 o'clock all had placed themselves, according to the chart on the door of Room 7, and were ready for four years of work and play.

Of course one of the first things to do was to elect officers to conduct the class meetings. When the votes were counted it was found that the following had been elected:

President , Ruth Bedford	Vice President , Edward Wood
Secretary , Marion Whiting	Treasurer , Doris Diggle

The only member of the freshman class on the 1925-26 "Huttlestonian" staff was Howard Dutton, in the role of assistant advertising manager.

David Entin, Albert Hammond, Frank Sheard, Edward Wood and Howard Dutton, being members of the football squad, were privileged to kick the pigskin about.

As a rule there are not many parties at Fairhaven High School. We broke the tradition, however, and enjoyed a jolly good time at a Christmas party held in the gym. Presents were exchanged. Some were humorous; others were not. Weldon Shurtleff received a lamb on wheels.

As home room teacher, Mr. Staples kept us straight and "Uncle Bob" Erickson, from Clark University, divided his time between keeping score for athletic teams and teaching the Freshmen English classes. The following literary masterpieces were found in a group of freshman themes on Rip Van Winkle:

"Does anyone know Rip Van Winkle? The people pointed to a lad leaning against a fence with ragged clothes on."

"Going thru' the street I noticed some people stroke their chin so I stroke mine and found it about a foot long."

Spring fever was followed by summer vacation, and the class of 1929 occupied the Freshman seats for the last time.

In September the class returned—now Sophomores. Of the goodly number from Mattapoisett, Henry Pease and Albert Aston showed signs of becoming prominent.

Walter Cherry, who entered high school a year before the class of 1929, left during his Freshman year, but returned to join a good class.

The Sophomore year the class was separated into Rooms 17 and 6 which were under the direction of Miss Tyler and Miss Heald, who later became Dean of Girls.

When elections were held, it was found that Ray Mitchell was to call the meeting to order; Marion Whiting to fill Ray's shoes in his absence, or sit on the shelf in his presence; Doris Diggle to record the meetings; and Filbert Silveria to keep the money bags, when there was money to put in them.

Ray Mitchell ousted Howard Dutton from his position as assistant advertising manager and was the only Sophomore on the staff of "The Huttlestonian."

Football called out Wood, Entin, Freitas and Hammond. Needless to say, Coach Borah could see future champs in this group.

The girls also made a good showing in athletics. Five were members of the varsity hockey squad: Marion Whiting, Marjorie McCracken, Marjorie Winterbottom, Alice O'Leary and Gladys Hebden.

The Sophomore debating team won a debate with the N. B. H. S. Junior Debating Society. The subject was the cancelation of foreign war debts and Sophie Such, Mildred Morse, Frank Sheard and Raymond Mitchell (as alternate) successfully upheld their stand. The F. H. S. won by a vote of two to one.

The F. H. S. won fourth place in the New Hampshire meet and Sophomores participated.

The following September saw the class reassembled again, now slightly smaller than before.

The greater part of "The Huttlestonian" staff was made up of Juniors. Ray Mitchell, Ruth Bedford, and Sophie Such held the more important positions, and seven other Juniors helped to complete the staff.

Six Juniors were members of the football team which won the Bristol County Championship: Entin, Velho, Freitas, Pease, Machado and Garcia.

The first four of that group helped a great deal to win the Bristol County Championship in Baseball.

The Literary Club elected three Juniors for its officers:

President, Doris Diggle
Secretary, Ruth Bedford
Treasurer, Marjorie McCracken

Realizing that one year is hardly sufficient time in which to raise money for all Senior class expenses, the class of 1929 sponsored a St. Patrick's dance in the gym. It was successful both financially and otherwise. It will, no doubt, become the custom to hold a Junior dance each year.

The Juniors had quite a say in the New Hampshire track meet. Ray Mitchell won the high jump. Walter Cherry tied for the pole vault, and won the third place for broad jumping. Frank Machado was on the winning relay team.

The Boston indoor and outdoor meets were won by Fairhaven with no little assistance from the Juniors. When the Bristol County Track Meet was held, Machado was a member of the State record-breaking relay team, and Cherry and Whitworth broke the pole-vault record. Cherry also tied with Aiken for honors in the running broad jump.

A comparatively large number of Junior girls won numerals and letters for basketball, hockey, and track.

In February seven Juniors were initiated into the newly formed Honor Society; Doris Diggle, Gladys Hebden, Mildred Hoxie, Ellen Meal, Mildred Morse, Raymond Mitchell and Helen Murley.

The class was separated in Rooms 9 and 11 under the supervision of Miss Griswold and Miss Russell. The officers of the class were:

President, Frank Velho
Vice President, Buddy Wood
Secretary, Ray Mitchell
Treasurer, David Entin

When service pins and certificates were given out, the Juniors took their share. Some girls must have typewriting certificates to burn!

Junior day was celebrated according to custom by each member wearing the class colors, red and gold.

---

At the graduation ceremony of the class of 1927-28, Ray Mitchell was presented with the Harvard Club award for scholarship, a book entitled "The Life of Dean Briggs."

At last, the Senior year -- a year of hard work for all! After the last election of officers the following students were revealed as the winners:

President, Ray Mitchell
Vice President, Buddy Wood
Secretary, Dave Entin
Treasurer, Johnny Freitas

Almost at the beginning of the Senior year two members left the class.

Ronald Horne left F. H. S. and went to Florida. Harold Sylvada left to take a position in the business world.

March 8, the class presented "The Romantic Age" with the following cast:

Mrs. Knowle .....	Charlotte Terhune
Melisande (her daughter) .....	Ruth Bedford
Jane (her niece) .....	Marion Whiting
Mr. Knowle .....	Filbert Silveira
Bobby .....	Albert Aston
Gervase Mallory .....	David Entin
Ern .....	Walter Cherry
Master Susan .....	Howard Dutton
Alice .....	Doris Diggle

Walter Cherry as a half-witted country boy added a great deal of humor to the play, and "Al" Aston's moustache nearly caused a riot. During rehearsals Doris Diggle, as maid, had a very hard time trying to keep sandwiches, crackers, et cetera for the third act; usually there was nothing left after the second act! ,

Marion Milhench was property manager, Jane Stetson costume manager; Betty Haskins and Helen Murley were prompters.

No less important was our director Miss Margaret Siebert. To her, is due the success of the play. The entire cast received much applause from the large audience that saw the play.

The editor-in-chief of "The Huttlestonian and the captain of the traffic squad during the senior year were one and the same person—Ray Mitchell. When anybody wants to start anything they begin by making Ray Mitchell president!

Catherine Owen, from out West was a newcomer, and contributed a very humorous article, to "The Huttlestonian" about "Fairhaven." She remained here only a few months, however. Sheard and Garcia also dropped out of the class. There are now but sixty-four members in the class of 1929. At one time there were nearly a hundred.

Hammond captained the foot-ball team and seven other Seniors did a great deal in defeating every team except Vocational, from over the river, and Taunton.

Captain Velho, with Entin, Freitas, Cherry, and Pease made a fine showing during the basketball season.

The girls' Senior hockey team, captained by Alice O'Leary and managed by Helen Murley, won the championship and was presented with the F. H. S. hockey emblem.

The G. A. A. elected Alice O'Leary, President and Jane Stetson, Treasurer.

Betty Haskins, a newcomer from New Bedford, and Rose Freeman were initiated into the Honor Society at the annual initiation ceremony. The following officers conducted the ceremony:

President, Helen Murley
Vice President, Gladys Hebden
Secretary, Ellen Meal
Treasurer, Mildred Morse

Doris Diggle was reelected President of the Literary Club and Marion Whiting lead the Student Council.

David Entin was elected to the Presidency of the B. A. A., and Walter Perry, Treasurer.

The Varsity Club was formed thru' the efforts of Coach Wells. Its purpose is the fostering of higher standards of spirit among the members of the school. Its Senior officers are:

Vice-President, Frank Velho
Treasurer, Walter Perry

The main governing body, the Board of Control, consists of five members: George Stetson, Johnny Freitas, David Entin, Frank Machado, Ray Mitchell.

In order to assure a larger attendance of pupils at the school dances, the Student Council sponsored a dancing class taught by Professor Kavenaugh of New Bedford. Several afternoon dancing parties were held and the Senior dance profited by the class.

During the Senior year the class was separated into Rooms 4 and 5 under the direction of Mrs. Dodge and Miss Siebert.

At the Indoor State Meet, Machado won the 300 yard dash, Cherry came in second in the broad jump, and Mitchell gained second place in the high jump.

At a class meeting in the latter part of March, the staff of "The Huttlestonian" appointed David Entin, with Marion Whiting as an assistant, to write the class prophecy, and the undersigned to write the class history.

Helen E. Murley, '29.

The Prophecy of the Class of 1929

LAST evening while glancing at the front page of a local newspaper, the following headlines attracted my eyes: "Doris Diggle, Follies Star, in Automobile Accident." Wondering if this could be the same Doris with whom I used to go to school, I started for the trial next morning, bright and early.

As I was turning a corner, I bumped into a young lady and knocked her down. Picking her up I saw that he was Marion Shurtleff. I almost dropped her again in my surprise. After a little conversation, from which I found out she was book reviewer for "The Ladies Home Journal," I bade her good-bye.

Walking down the street in a very thoughtful mood I suddenly heard my name called. I looked up and whom should I see but "Fil" Silveria, a famous surgeon in the I Mendem Hospital. He was in a hurry to reach a patient so I very regretfully said a farewell to him also.

"Look out there, young man," I screamed as some gentlemen in a naval officer's uniform almost walked into an automobile. Well, I'll be—; sure enough it was "Buddy" Wood, Captain of the Lawson-Brown Steamship Company. He was also headed for the court and so we walked to the trial together.

On the way he told me about some other classmates of that memorable class of '29.

"Al" Aston, he said, was the jazz leader of the day. His records and vitaphone productions were heard everywhere. His latest song hit was "In My Mattapoissett Home."

"Bill" Andrew was an optician. His motto, "The Shorter the Dress the Stronger the Lens," was a great favorite and one might hear it anywhere.

Isabel Braley, besides being a dancing instructor was the manager of the Overland and Whippet Sales Company. "She's doing a great business too," he said.

Jean Carpenter, Captain Wood went on to say, was the editor of a newspaper called the "Mattapoissett Sea Sickness." One glance at it while on the water and you were sick for a month!

Alice Chace Pierce was the business manager of this paper. Since her arrival on the staff, the circulation of the paper increased from twenty-one to twenty-six. Alice must be due for a raise, I thought.

As "Buddy" and I were mounting the stairs of the court we saw a short, skinny young fellow running up the steps three at a time. He was attired in an aviator's costume. I recognized his face at first glance; it was "Peanut" Rowland, the ace of the Mattapoisett Flying Corps.

On both sides of the doors were the court officers. The one on the left was Aurele Parkin. Aurele was manager of the P & Q Stores.

The other officer was "Ken" Marchant. He, as you know, runs an alibi office for married men. Business was not very good, he told me, because husbands always told their wives the truth.

Seated at one desk was the defendent in the case. She was Doris whom we have mentioned above.

"Ray" Mitchell her attorney was talking to her. He was, perhaps, the coolest looking person in the court-room. Later on I found out that there was an electric fan right above him. "Ray" is being suggested for Attorney-General.

At the other table was the plaintiff "Walt" Cherry. I can never forget that baby face of his. Do you remember it in the Senior play? "Walt" teaches a dumb-bell class in the Y. M. C. A. He ought to make a good teacher in that subject because he knows much about dumb-bells.

The plaintiff's attorney was Jane Stetson. Jane ( it seems, had been winning all of her cases (law cases) and was making a great name for herself. Jane surely knows her law!

"Those two people entering the door behind us look familiar," murmured "Buddy" to me. They certainly did too. A hush fell over the crowd, and someone whispered, "Here comes Bennett and Dutton." After much inquiry I found out that "Kenny" and "Dutt" were the Einsteins of the year. Can you imagine that?

Seated all around me were many of my old classmates of Fairhaven High School. I didn't recognize them but my companion pointed them out to me.

The former Ruth Bedford was sitting two rows away from us. Her daughter Melisande was with her. Ruth had married an athlete who is now coach at Cornell.

Priscilla Alden, in the front row, was Physical Instructor at the Y. W. C. A. She also had made quite a name for herself on the women's track team in the Olympics.

"The distinguished looking young lady over there," continued "Buddy," is "Dot" Janes. "Dot" is legal advisor to the president. Since her appointment, it is said that the president has five new cars."

"Who is that good looking man to the left," I asked, "sitting with that woman?"

"Oh, that's George Stetson and his wife. George is the most exclusive harberdasher on Broadway."

Just then the jury filed in. Helen Murley was the first one out of the jurists' room. I had seen Helen's picture in the papers quite a bit lately. She was the instructor of the Honor Society School.

Sophie Such! Well, well, Sophie; I never expected to see you again after that last World News contest in F. H. S. in '29. Sophie, I learned, was now circulation manager of some great newspaper. I've forgotten the name just now. It's not important to know that anyway!

"Who is that woman talking to her?" I asked. "Oh, I know; it's Ellen Meal. Ellen is a teacher in dancing. Her new dances are the 'Irish Lilt' and the 'Sailor's Horn Pipe.' I always knew that she would be a great dancer some day."

"And that's Edith Rogers, isn't it?" Edith is now captain and star guard of a wonderful city basketball team. 'Edie' always was a good basketball player."

The next jurist at first I could not recall. Finally, though, Betty Snow's name flashed through my mind. Betty was a nurse in a great New York Hospital, according to "Buddy" and only one of her patients had ever died. She had had only one.

I could guess who the next one was walking beside Betty. Hazel Perkins at present an office girl in a bologna company. No, I mean it!

"There's "Brad" Eddy! What a welcome sight. "Brad" still carries ice. I don't know why they picked him to serve on the jury unless it was to keep the jurists cool in time of heat. How about it "Brad?"

The judge is entering now and my companion and I recognize "Frankie" Velho; "Frankie," a judge! There can't be much work.

The pencils of the three court stenographers begin to fly. I recognize the girls at once—Rose Freeman, Alberta Figuerido, and Catherine Flores. They had been working here three years now and the court was highly pleased with them, a clerk afterwards told me.

The nerve of the fellow in front of me! He had fallen asleep in court. Some one was shaking him and finally succeeded in waking him. It was "Peasie." The poor fellow must have been awfully tired, I thought, to fall asleep like that. I heard afterwards that he had just pitched a hard game for the Yankees the day before.

Frank Machado was sitting with "Peasie." "Frankie" also pitched for the New York Yankees during the summer months, I was told later. When not engaged at this pastime he was a broker in a New York office.

A late comer sauntered up the aisle of the court-room. Looking more closely, I recognized Johnnie Freitas. Johnnie, I had heard of some time before, as a millionaire who made his money composing French tests.

The court was adjourned for a moment to allow a law book to be brought in to settle an argument. As the librarian entered, who should it be but Lois Weeden. That Mattapoissett Training must have helped her out!

Suddenly I was aware of someone looking intently at me from across the court-room. "Al" Hamer! The old rascal! "Al" the most popular actor on the screen at the present time! Compared with "Al", John Gilbert was nothing.

Beside "Al" was sitting Marion Milhench. "She's now property manager for Zeigfield," whispered Buddy. "He uses her in all his principal events. Her work in the Senior play surely brought her deserved reward!"

The court adjourned for twenty minutes to give the jurists time for lunch. The booksellers swarmed in to sell their wares and "Walt" Perry appeared before me, saying that he was in poor health from being overworked in his soda factory, and the doctor had advised a little change. I bought the magazine "Physical Culture" from him. Marjorie McCracken's picture was on the front page. What had she been up to I wondered. Oh, of course, she was a model for the magazine!

Mildred Hoxie was standing behind "Walt" and came over to speak to me. She said she was happily married now, and she looked as if she had oodles of money! Mildred said that she had been recently visiting Edith Holmes who was also married. Edith had married a blonde. Let this be a warning to young men who loiter in corridors to talk to senior girls! Betty Haskins had been a guest at dinner one evening during Mildred's visit. She was manager of a beauty shop in Boston, and very successful in her work.

It was time for court to reassemble. "Timmie" O'Leary came hurrying thru the door. "She is another champion on the Women's Olympic Team," said Mildred.

What famous people old F. H. S. has turned out! One would think that this courtroom was the scene of a reunion of the Class of '29.

Dear me, someone has fainted there in a corner of the room. "Who is it?" I asked a passerby.

"Charlotte Terhune," was the answer.

Poor old "Charlie" was crying for her handkerchief, and her niece Jane, who was with her, picked it up for her. "Charlie" had married a millionaire some time ago. Some one came in to take her out. It was the court matron, Gladys Pemberton. She had an assistant whom I discovered was Harriette Killam. She told me later that she had been teaching short-hand and typewriting in Egypt. During her travels she had met Mabel Rounsville who was just starting out on a trip into Africa for her health. She had been working very hard on the entertainment committee of the Girl Reserves.

The afternoon wore away and a verdict of not guilty was returned by the jury. As I made my way toward the door, someone took hold of my arm. I looked around and saw Betty Parshley. After asking what she was doing I found out that she was engaged to the Mayor of New Bedford.

I asked Irene LaMarche—the old dear was standing beside her—"What are you doing here?"

"Oh, I'm just buying agent for a fur concern in Paris and I'm over to look at some goods. Do you remember who this is?"

I followed her gaze and there was Marietta Giante.

"Yes, Irene and I both work for the same concern," said Marietta.

"Do you ever see Rose Vincent?" I asked. Somebody then remarked that Rose was way off in Alaska, had charge of an orange grove, and had engaged Frances March as her assistant.

After a sad farewell I walked out of the courtroom and down towards my office. When I arrived there I was due for a bigger surprise than I had received all day.

"Al" Hammond was sitting on my desk, laughing at me. I had read in the papers that "Al" was coach of the Yale eleven.

Gertrude Stiles sat in a chair in the corner of the room. "Gert" teaches ornithology in the University of Maine.

Marion Whiting! Gee, whiz! I had not seen her in ages. Marion said that she had a position in a doctor's office.

Bertha Vincent had been talking with Marion and informed us that she was instructor in the Y. W. C. A.

"Let's go out to dinner," I suggested. Within twenty minutes we were inside the restaurant.

"Frannie" Hammond was sitting at a table opposite us, with a strange looking man. Someone remarked that she was accompanist for McCormick. Good work "Fran!"

At another table was Marjorie Winterbottom. I recognized "Marge" at once by her smile. Bertha remarked that Marjorie was studying art.

We had all noticed Mildred Morse sitting at the cashier's desk, as we came in. Her work in the high school bank gave her all the experience that she needed.

Just then Gladys Hebden brought in our order. Here we are all eating, and the happiest little group imaginable! May I always have the pleasure of meeting old classmates from the most wonderful high school in the world.

“The Romantic Age”

“THE ROMANTIC AGE,” A. A. Milne’s fanciful comedy, was presented by the Senior Class of 1929 at the Town Hall on March eighth, before a large and appreciative audience. Due to the untiring efforts of Miss Siebert and the cast, the play proved an excellent vehicle for the talent of the class, and an entertainment of high quality. The cast was as follows:

Melisande .....	Ruth Bedford
Gervase Mallory .....	David Entin
Mrs. Knowle .....	Charlotte Terhune
Mr. Knowle .....	Filbert Silveira
Jane, (niece of Mrs. Knowle) .....	Marion Whiting
Bobby Coote .....	Albert Aston
Ern .....	Walter Cherry
Susan .....	Howard Dutton
Alice, (the maid) .....	Doris Diggle

Every member of the class participated in one way or another in preparing for the production. Those who did not have a part, served in such capacities as electricians, prompters, costume, property and stage managers, and in selling punch and candy. The assistance given by the various departments of the school and also by members of the faculty contributed greatly to the success of the production.

Crossroads

For some of us the journey's ended,
Others, it has just begun;
The narrow way thus far we've travelled
Is not always to be run.

While some may rise above life's darkness,
Some will never catch the light;
Yet ties that bind us now together
Shall still hold us to the right.

As we have all received freely,
So may we be free to give;
And with a will which cannot waver
Go on learning how to live.

Faculty versus Seniors

A FOOTBALL GAME

IT is just 2:25 o'clock, five minutes before the big game of the year. The Faculty are going to get their chance to take out their vengeance on the wise and learned Seniors. The west side of the field is crowded with students who are making a terrific racket. They probably think they are in class! Across the field are the fair Faculty who have come to see their team and cheer them on to victory. Leading their cheers are Mrs. Dodge and Miss Gifford. The Faculty banners of black and blue are floating everywhere.

The people in the stands rise and give a mighty cheer as the Red and Gold of the Seniors appear. But what a noise greets the Faculty team as the members come on to the field! Such whistling, cheering, clapping, and stamping of feet! Captain Dickey with the ball under his arm is the picture of perfect confidence. Talking to him is the coach beloved by his opponents as well as his team,—Coach Prior.

The two captains and coaches are in the middle of the field now and the referee, who is "Pat" Carpenter, is flipping a coin. The Seniors win the toss and choose to receive. The referee carries his step ladder to the sidelines, and the game is about to start.

"Are you ready, Captain Dickey?"

"Are you ready, Senior Captain?"

The whistle blows. Mr. Parkinson tees up and drives off for 25 yards, but the receiver is stopped dead in his tracks by one of Mr. Johnson's looks. After two unsuccessful plays the Seniors punt and Mr. Cox receives. Seeing that no Senior is in sight, he stops and waits for one to reach him, as he does not wish to take an unfair advantage. Because they cannot gain, the Faculty are forced to punt. The game seesaws this way for three quarters. At last the final quarter is on and the stands are in an uproar.

"Mon Dieu! Quel jeu!" cries Miss Gifford.

"Agite Comites! Heia Socii!" bellows Mrs. Dodge.

Mr. Parkinson seems in a daze but he will not leave the game. No wonder! Coach Prior won't let him. On the first play, Mr. Wells, who has made 90 yards in 88 rushes, goes around right end for a gain of 35 yards. The ball is now in mid field. For a few moments the game is stopped to allow Mr. Larrabee to teach Mr. Cox how to say 73 in German. This same Mr. Larrabee is taking notes of the game on his cuffs! After another play that gains the Faculty 20 yards, the teams line up, but Mr. Lawton is bewildered. He is going 'round and 'round muttering something about an isosceles triangle. The ball is now on the Senior's 30 yard line with 2 yards to go for a first down. Mr. Parkinson is given the ball. Lying down and stretching himself at full length, he makes the distance with 3 feet to spare. Mr. Dickey calls the team back in a huddle and says to them, "The situation is this." The Faculty are fighting madly by this time and Mr. Cox is hurt. Miss Strong rushes out with a cup of tea and Mr. Cox is up again. The ball is given to Mr. Wells, who stops the game to show the Seniors their mistakes. He walks through their line with the ball and makes 10 yards before anybody thinks of stopping him. At this point, Mr. Howland rushes into the locker rooms to turn off the lights, just as Miss Trowbridge is leading a stirring song. There are the Misses Heald, Barker, Russell, Plaisted, Hughes, Griswold, Boynton and Ambler cheering their team! Miss Siebert is near-by taking notes of the game.

Mr. Dickey, by this time, has become greatly fatigued and keeps falling to the ground. He blames this on the law of gravitation. The ball is now on the 10 yard line. What a game! Quarterback Cox is at a loss to know what play to use, so pulling out his slide rule, he helps himself decide. The play gains exactly 6 inches. The next play gains 6 inches also. Fourth down, 9 yards to go, thirty seconds to play. The ball is fumbled in the backfield. Mr. Lawton, on the alert for such a thing, recovers the ball and dashes off at a tangent for a touchdown. Mrs. Dodge and Miss Gifford are still cheering in Latin and in French. Even Mrs. Goodwin seems to have lapsed off into French too. Such a hubbub! Mr. Parkinson again tees up for the point after the touchdown and drives off; he makes it. Score: Faculty 7 — Seniors 0. The whistle blows and the game is over. Boy! Oh, Boy! What a game!
